Individual Paid Subscriptions to The Army Lawyer

Attention Individual Subscribers!

The Government Printing Office offers a paid subscription service to The Army Lawyer. To receive an annual individual paid subscription (12 issues) to The Army Lawyer, complete and return the order form below (photocopies of the order form are acceptable).

Renewals of Paid Subscriptions

When your subscription is about to expire, the Government Printing Office will mail each individual paid subscriber only one renewal notice. You can determine when your subscription will expire by looking at your mailing label. Check the number that follows "ISSUE" on the top line of the mailing label as shown in this example:

A renewal notice will be sent when this digit is 3.

The numbers following ISSUE indicate how many issues remain in the subscription. For example, ISSUE001 indicates a subscriber will receive one more issue. When the number reads ISSUE000, you have received your last issue unless you renew.

You should receive your renewal notice around the same time that you receive the issue with ISSUE003.

To avoid a lapse in your subscription, promptly return the renewal notice with payment to the Superintendent of Documents. If your subscription service is discontinued, simply send your mailing label from any issue to the Superintendent of Documents with the proper remittance and your subscription will be reinstated.

Inquiries and Change of Address Information

The individual paid subscription service for The Army Lawyer is handled solely by the Superintendent of Documents, not the Editor of The Army Lawyer in Charlottesville, Virginia. Active Duty, Reserve, and National Guard members receive bulk quantities of The Army Lawyer through official channels and must contact the Editor of The Army Lawyer concerning this service (see inside front cover of the latest issue of The Army Lawyer).

For inquiries and change of address for individual paid subscriptions, fax your mailing label and new address to the following address:
