

DJAG Sends

A Message from The Deputy Judge Advocate General

Military Justice Information Systems Assessment

An external agency is holistically evaluating the JAG Corps' current military justice information practices, to compare them with our applications and data requirements, identify capability gaps, and propose improvements. A survey will soon go out to ensure we capture practitioner input at all echelons and locations.

This effort will depend upon candid input from all military justice enterprise stakeholders in the field. We need your assistance in distributing surveys to military justice practitioners across our organizations, down to the Brigade level. Please convey the importance of this effort to your attorneys, paralegals, and civilians at all echelons. Members of your organization may also be contacted by the survey team. Encourage your personnel to give open, honest, constructive feedback.

This assessment presents an invaluable opportunity to obtain a fresh perspective from experts familiar with current technology, applications, and criminal justice information practices in various jurisdictions. As we look to the future, it is crucial that the Army's military justice applications and databases remain at the forefront of technology. Your support and participation are vital to the success of this capability assessment. Thank you for your commitment to enhancing our military justice information practices.

This We'll Defend!

//ORIGINAL SIGNED//

ROBERT A. BORCHERDING

Major General, USA

The Deputy Judge Advocate General