Announcement for Civilian Attorney Attendance at the Judge Advocate Officer’s Graduate

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

What status will I be in while attending the Judge Advocate Officer’s Graduate Course?

A civilian attorney attending long term training at the Grad Course will be in a temporary duty (TDY) status. There is no authority for temporary change of station (TCS) for civilians attending training under the Government Employees Training Act (GETA).

What Joint Travel Regulation (JTR) allowances will I receive while attending the Grad Course?

The JTR authorizes civilians who are receiving training outside the permanent duty station (PDS) under GETA to receive either per diem or dependent and household good (HHG) transportation to and from the training location. Dependent and HHG transportation may be authorized only if the estimated round trip transportation total costs for dependents and HHG between the PDS and the training location is less than the total per diem payments the employee could receive. Per diem remains an authorized allowance, even if dependent and HHG transportation would be less costly. It is assumed that the Grad Course attendee would opt to receive per diem during the period of the training, but transportation costs for dependents and HHG could be elected by the attendee.

During the Grad Course you are authorized lodging and per diem. Pursuant to the JTR, travelers are charged with making lodging arrangements pursuant to the best use of government funds.

Additionally, centralized funding will be authorized for you to travel to/from your PDS to TJAGLCS on one occasion – the travel to the course in August 2020, and the return travel in May 2021. Additional trips to the PDS must be paid by either the employee or the employee’s command.

What is a Continuing Service Agreement and why do I have to sign one?

In accordance with 5 CFR 410.309(c) and AR 350-1, before attending long term training in excess of 160 hours, a civilian employee must sign an agreement to continue to serve in the Department of Defense (DoD) for a period equal to at least three times the length of the training course. Calculation of the continued service obligation period will not include weekends or federal holidays. The obligation period begins on the first duty day following completion of the training. Employees who voluntarily fail to complete the obligated service period within the DoD will be required to reimburse the Army/DoD on a pro rata basis for the percentage of non-completion of the obligated service for the tuition, materials, supplies, and other costs paid in connection with the training.

The Grad Course is estimated to last 290 days, pursuant to the Continuing Service Agreement, the employee would be required to work for the DOD for at least 870 working days after the completion of the Grad Course, or would be required to reimburse the costs on a pro rata basis.

What is expected of a civilian employee attending the Grad Course during school breaks (i.e., Writing Weeks, Christmas break and Spring break)?

During school breaks of four working days or more, the employee will return to duty at the employing activity (the return cannot be paid for with centralized funding). An employee who does not return to duty at the employing activity must either use annual leave during school breaks or his/her supervisor must certify that the student will be fully involved in a research/study project related to the training assignment. See AR 350-1, para. 4-15c(2).

The announcement indicates I need to provide command endorsement for application, who is required to endorse?

Command endorsement in memorandum format from the first General Officer or SES in the employee’s chain of supervision is required.
